Content:

- Breaking down student code of conduct as it applies directly to students. Specifically we will focus on what the policy defines as violations and what a student should expect from the school if they are found to be breaking policy.
- Education about student rights and judicial procedure. Especially before this Halloween season, we find it vital that students are aware of their rights in the judicial process here at UCSB
- We also plan on advertising our services as Office of the Student Advocate social conduct caseworkers, and what we can do for students who find themselves in conflict with the school policy.
