

IVCRC Minutes
5/18/10

I. Committee Work/ Updates

- a. Relay For Life (not meeting)
Megan thanks everyone who signed up for coming. One person who signed up didn't show. We raised $630 dollars approximately.
- b. Swim Program
Kelly is meeting with director of RecCen to learn what they did the last time there was a swim program. The person that directed the swim program last time passed away, and no one picked up where he left off. She has to find records of what he did, if they exist. She has superintendent's approval to incorporate student's from school district into program. Needs to gain permission to use Santa Catalina pool.
- c. Library Access
Kelly met with library staff about this. We need to figure out exactly what we want to do. We have free reign over program design. Librarians suggest that we should gear the program towards sixth graders and get them excited for college. Show them clubs, departments, different facilities. We have approval to conduct this program.
- d. SHO
Cedric updates on this. Cori reiterates: Originally, IVCRC was working with groups of individuals/representatives who are pushing to develop a draft that we all agree on. We decided as a committee to not work with them anymore, so we are now fighting them. She mentions civil liberty issues. We are pointing out flaws, making sure it doesn't get passed. Cedric brings up the idea of creating a Facebook group to raise awareness. Cori establishes SHO as a committee group and reminds everyone to try to come to the meetings to help fight it.
- e. Banquet
Marie says time will be 7:30pm. Kelly has no Banquet updates other than "It's gonna be fun."

*Only Library and Social Host Committees break up to do work today.

III. Funding Requests

a. WORD

Brian introduces himself as Editor-in-Chief. Word has grown a lot, and is nearly emancipated from needing school funding. Circulation has reached 2000. Summer issue – hoping to print 3000 copies with different design style and larger magazine. Met with Jeff Linger from Master Plan agency, talked about different ways the Master Plan could help the community besides furthering business and housing opportunity. County owns 7-foot corridor from Sam's to Go to Chino's. Word Magazine received approval to use this area for magazine circulation and art-related purposes. Ultimate plan is to put a wall on the street that has community artwork on it. It will be a "mini space" for people to come and relax and observe this "micro-gallery." It will have a chalkboard so the space is interactional. Voices concern for the very little public artwork in IV. It would promote community because it's a public space/installation where people could come and share common interests. Requesting $227 for materials and 20 hours of work at $10 an hour

Grand Request Total=$427

Area will have an easel for public thoughts, and a box for distributing issue. Hoping that this space could last for the entire summer. Jeff voices concerns about this turning into a "mini skate park." County has never worked with student organizations in art-related projects, Brian views this as a "mini-test" on behalf of the County.
